The composer of this song is Anupam Roy. The song is called as 'Poonam's Song'. I just love the music of this song... What do you think about it? Hope you all enjoy listening to this song and let me know if there is any better version for this song... I found the source of this song. There is some banjo playing going on in the background, and then the theme gets picked up. That might be a piano. Then there is a more old-fashioned violin playing in the background and then the complete theme gets repeated by a string ensemble. The chorus singing is very simple and in the true style of Indian songs. There are a couple of female singers, but not the trio (Soni-Shayan-Razia) I mentioned earlier. It is rather a melodic song. It is very rare to find such songs in today's music. It is a good song, but not very common.ing the individual personality into his role. It also meant that him meeting with the "victim" was not just a source of angst for him, but a concrete reality. 1d6a3396d6
