What's New In?

Watermarking is a technology that allows us to embed copyright information, product information, or logos in digital media such as video and audio files. A watermark is a deliberate alteration to a media file. The alteration can be applied by any kind of process. Typically, a watermark can be applied on the audio, video or both parts of a media file. Our approach to the watermarking is based on wavelet transformation. We use wavelets because they are the best tool for the purpose of media watermarking as they can preserve details and edges with high efficiency. Core modules of the component: • Wavelet Video Watermarking • Wavelet Low-pass • Wavelet High-pass • Decoration • Watermark control • Floating window Functions: • Insert wavelet and watermark information on each frame. • Show the watermark and the level of visibility in each frame. • Shows the result of the watermark in the frame • Rotation of the watermark on the video file • Mute/unmute the watermark and the video file. • Low-pass and High-pass filters for the watermark This simple FX plugin will freeze an object in the video to make it static. You can then remove the object from the video making it transparent. Once frozen, you can put a different clip before it and get an interesting effect. New Effect: “Rotate watermarks”!
