Knockout City: Medieval Engineers is the sequel to the hit indie sandbox game, Medieval Engineers. We're partnering with indie developer, Chucklefish, to release it on PS4 and Xbox One in Q1 of 2017. It will be available on PC later on. It's a totally different game to Medieval Engineers, but still plays like a Medieval Engineers game. It was built by a new studio of the same talent and passion, and was created with the same kinds of tools that you use. We want to give you what you loved and more! We're super excited to be releasing this game with Chucklefish, and thank you for your support! If you love Medieval Engineers, you'll love Knockout City, so check it out here to get more information! Watch for us on - we'll be tweeting and posting videos, and you can check out our progress here: _____ Overview: Not much has happened in Knockout City since Medieval Engineers came out in 2014. The game is actually a totally different game, built with the same tools and technology and created by the same team, with new people in the studio and a completely new project. We think Knockout City will just feel like Medieval Engineers. Really! There's no new content, but it plays like a Medieval Engineers game, but it's just as freeform as you want to be. Key Features: Freeform Construction with no time limit or stress A fully open world with both on and off road travel Create both land and air travel routes with check points and docking stations Intuitive crafting UI with clear and concise selection of components Selection of tools to build and destroy your environment Scout and deploy mines and traps in the wilderness to deter travelers or crush your enemies Deploy a catapult and explore your environment while raining hellfire down on an unsuspecting enemy Build a structure out of simple, but architecturally inspiring, shapes You can build so much and do so much! Modify weapons, structures and vehicles with a simple crafting system that gives you more freedom and depth than ever before Hidden Features: Use simple mechanics to create your own tools Craft your

Resonance Audio Studio: Factory is a location-based VR experience showcasing spatial audio capabilities of the Resonance Audio SDK by Google. Using the Resonance Audio SDK, this virtual experience recreates the precision and quality of spatial sound and virtual reality. The experience places you in an unusual factory, where you'll find yourself in a complex maze of corridors and areas, each with its own sound. Through creative design, each area of the factory has been meticulously crafted to create the perfect environment for truly immersive VR experiences. Spatial Audio Capabilities: Spatial audio offers an amazing sense of presence and immersion in the virtual world. Use your headphones or wireless headphones to experience three dimensional sound delivered in each listener's real-world head position. Spatial audio and virtual reality bring together realism and immersion in a way that previously was unachievable. Work Your Way Through the Factory: Every area in the Factory is soundscape-rich, built to deliver a full-room experience with unique sounds and environments. Use Resonance Audio to navigate through the Factory, either using the original controls or the new Vive/Oculus Touch controller shortcuts. Every room has different experiences. Feel the heart beats of an angry and unpredictable gorilla, listen to the more gentle sounds of a butterfly, and step into the sound of a wounded mammoth. You'll have to work to find the answers and you'll need to be as quick as you can to stay alive. Over the years, the factory has evolved and new rooms have been added. Find your way through the Factory and its many rooms to find your destiny. Resonance Audio SDK: Use the Resonance Audio SDK to design and create spatial audio experiences for VR, AR, and other use cases. Test, optimize, and refine your experience for a perfect user experience. This SDK can be used in a game, a demo, or as a tool for developers. What's New: _____ • New controller, Vive/Oculus Touch option (note: wired headphones required) • Realistic sound design • Different animals per room • Additional room recorded • Additional room added • Improved graphic • Optimization for iPad 11 & 12.2 Updates (Continued): • Bug fixed: Previous location asked users to download latest version of the app • Bug fixed: Gift card no longer visible Thank you for your time and support. What's new:

Well, we passed through the Milky Way and the Solar System on this journey. Now we're heading into the Lazy Galaxy! Zeroeth: Oh great, the first encounter with this mysterious alien ship is a blue bunny! The Lazy Galaxy So there we were, I mean, outside of the Milky Way, Star Wars style. In front of our ship, which was now the sentient Heavy Cruiser, there was this mysterious spaceship, and we noticed that our captain, Zeroeth, was sulking. We nudged her and she turned to us and said, "Oh geez, look I'm not working with my friends; what am I doing wrong?" Seac came up to her and whispered in her ear. Seac: Fear not, Zeroeth, for I am here to give you instruction. Where you're going, you're going because you want to, not because you have to. The three of you are the most important people in the universe. Oh, and you might find some very interesting listening to a young Kayneth. Now this was a moment of admission by the Captain. Seac: Do you see? The universe is waiting for her to be liberated from her daily to-do list. The ship was on the edge of a black hole. We looked into it and saw stars, asteroid belts, galaxies. Seac: But this ship is ready for space...and time. You can go anywhere and see anyplace and everything. All you have to do is to wait for the desire to come. And that is the key. You will know you are ready, because you will want to explore the universe. Our ship was waiting for a new crew, who just so happened to be a trio of David Landsman, Sigmund University; and Michael Christiaensen, who said in between whistling, "I got friends in sweaters, oh yes I do. I got friends in sweaters." Sigmund: Look how small we are! Do you know where we are? We're right behind the Milky Way. So we were seated there, in the Lazy Galaxy, and making our way out there. This galaxy was unusual however in that it had four distinct arms, and a primary galaxy. It was like looking at the face of a woman, with eyebrows drawn on separately. It was also
