In NUnit, I am testing my server code that is handling an http request, and I want to simulate a fault condition where the server code does not receive a response. If I just throw an exception I get "The test failed unexpectedly, please try to run it again." I also tried ExpectedException, but it does not work either. How can I simulate this situation? What is the "best" way to do this in NUnit? [Test] [ExpectedException(typeof(TimeoutException))] public void Test() {
