Competing Interests {#FPar1} ===== The authors declare that they have no competing interests. In July, New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio will travel to Senegal and South Africa for the World Economic Forum's Annual Meeting on Africa. But it won't be his first time in Africa. De Blasio was in Cape Town, South Africa as a special guest of President Obama in March 2014, according to a report by the Independent Black Star News. De Blasio was then campaigning for president. He had been endorsed by two prominent African American leaders, Rep. Charles Rangel of New York and Rep. James Clyburn of South Carolina, who was the second-highest-ranking Democrat in the House. "He is the candidate for the Democratic Party that best represents our values of dignity and equality," Clyburn said at a press conference. But because of Obama's endorsement, de Blasio couldn't use South Africa as a backdrop to his presidential campaign. De Blasio had been slated to give a speech to a "D
