Current views]. Due to the important role the tumor stroma plays in carcinogenesis, many authors have suggested that all therapies, including the adjuvant or adjuvant treatments, should be based on a multidisciplinary approach including not only oncology, radiology, surgery and pathology but also molecular biology. The main stroma regulators implicated in the development of breast cancer are the epidermal growth factor, the tumor necrosis factor and the transforming growth factor beta (TGF-beta). With the palliative treatment of patients with locally advanced and metastatic breast cancer, the most important objectives are to make the patient more comfortable, to improve his or her quality of life and to restore a good physical and psychological condition. Chemotherapy in the adjuvant setting is usually given to patients with tumors larger than 1.5 cm in diameter, with tumor sizes at least 5 mm from the axillary lymph nodes, or in the case of HER2-positive, hormone receptor negative, or HER2-overexpressing tumors, and the treatment is extended to four to six cycles. I've been trying to find out how much I've paid and the company wants to change it from 50. I can't remember what it said on the form that I signed but it was a couple of months ago and they told me it was under $35. Not a big deal since I would use it only for fun, but the thought of starting a new company with such a low amount doesn't make me feel all that comfortable. I just thought I'd see how much it was. I know that a stock Xmas tree company uses a cost of living index that increases every year so that their employees do not get a 30% pay increase on top of an inflationary increase. I don't know how that works with union labor, but it seems like a bad idea. What index are they using? I'm pretty sure they are using some kind of consumer price index, and then using some percentage of that to figure the CPI and what the increases should be.... I think it's out of the union's contract... not sure about that.... the discussion of how the company is supposed to get 6%/year raises continues. it might be that 2/year all employees get a 6% raise (and then another 6% after two years) instead of 3%. but this was discussed last week in the union meetings (i think it was discussed in the last meeting that the company planned on 5%/year raises) the meeting in the future is supposed to be on the subject of retailers borrowing money to compete with the companies on their doorsteps. lots of people are looking to buy. namely investors (big and small) are investing in retail locations. i'm sure some have plans to expand after that. i've met some crazy folks... they said they could continue to buy for as long as it takes to get out in 2008. i met with a real estate guy (a company that invests in retail real estate) in montreal. he told me that stores in levis, etc. are finding it harder to compete because the american companies are out there and they're bringing in products that have been around for a few years. he said that we should be seeing the last of the french retail (levis, etc.) by 2006. he said that most of the americans don't even shop in
