accounting for 72.8% of the total global cancer deaths in 2016, followed by Western Europe (13.0%) and North America (8.7%). At the same time, the WHO stated that there was a significant progress being made in cancer prevention and control, with an estimated 7.6 million new cancer cases being averted in 2016. At present, in most of the countries there has been a decline in the death rate from cancer, except in developing countries.
