When a bizarre malfunction causes your Creation to shatter, you find yourself lost in a broken world.

To escape this surreal nightmare, you'll need to explore a vibrant, mysterious city and encounter new characters that you'll develop into party members that you'll use to search for rare items and power-ups while you adventure through a vivid fantasy world. The future of humanity depends on it. About Dynamic Pixels Studios: Dynamic Pixels Studios are a gaming studio where you will find two leading teams, equipped with the knowledge and expertise to deliver you the highest quality game experience. From now to the end of 2017, we are hosting a Kickstarter campaign to raise funds for the development of the latest title from our exciting catalog, Dystopia. We are a group of passionate and skilled professionals united by one idea: work together to deliver memorable, quality experiences. www.dp-studios.com

"Dystopia is a perfect example of how to make a game both fun and creative." 4/5 - Game Play Informer "A very promising game" 3/5 - Game Over

Top and Bottom challenge works fine on everyone, is that not the point? I use to use a tripod which I would lower to the ground when I needed to switch the camera angles, but I use a new cheaper camera so the tripod is not the best thing to use. Maybe if they make a defcon pinball table that has you on a galloping horse and you have to release 3 shots to get the ball in the correct slot the developers will be forced to make the tables more dynamic so your not constantly getting in trouble for dummyming it up on the next shot. Personally I'd prefer if the wacky camera angles were there and this a single player experience. A Joust-like table where you have to maintain a standing or sitting position on a rotating platform while several small balls (literaly) zoom straight at you. If you fall or get hit

Features Key:

Drybow is a fast paced action roguelike with procedurally generated maps and a wide array of deadly traps. You will find yourself forced to resort to desperate measures as you search for a way out of each map. Prove your worth by killing dangerous enemies, finding all the special items and clearing all the hidden secrets. Everything depends on your ability to keep a cool head. Key Features: Fast paced action gameplay Infinite number of powerups Procedurally generated levels Hundreds of different enemies Interactive environment As technology becomes more and more powerful, mankind becomes increasingly unsafe due to the resulting rise in science-fiction inspired events. The CPD, a police force dedicated to combating these events, has prepared emergency plans in case of catastrophe. The administration created specialisation programs to teach the police officers of the specialised skills they need to deal with the most dangerous situations, including a procedural generation program for the underground levels. A critical incident occurs and the evacuation plan should kick in. You are called to perform an excavation mission for the CPD, inside a district locked down by the government, where the streets are filled with flashing lights and people hurry through the streets. Get ready to take action as you explore a new city in a procedurally generated environment. Watch out for zombies, shoot them out of the way and make sure that you don't bring too much attention to yourself. Protect the city and save all the civilians at your location. Watch out for everything in the world around you, you are a robot cop in the lawless city of the future. You are all alone, so you will have to be careful not to get spotted by the bad guys. You have to protect your coworkers and your city from the invasion of creatures called goris. They are on the hunt to find girls to eat. You have to look after your friends, protect them from the goris while trying to find an escape route. You have won an all-expenses-paid trip to a tropical island for two. But when you arrive, no one else is there! You will have to find out what happened to your travel group and what will happen to you when you get home. Play as a Villager and join the chase to save mankind from the aliens. You and your fellow Villagers will have to infiltrate the compound and neutralize all aliens in order to get out with the alien data. Shooting without aiming might not be the best way to go about this. Act fast and aim for the heart or face of each alien to make sure you do not lose a civilian. If an alien sneaks up on you it's just better to surrender as they are not interested in human lives. Something like this is happening #include int main () { int A=3; long B=0x1234ABCDEFF; __asm__ ("mov A,B" ); printf("%d",A); } I was expecting some exact value which is stored in register A before the assembly instruction. Is it possible that the hardware contains data in RAM which is directly accessible to the c memory or it is just a result of the compiler? A: is it possible that the hardware contains data in RAM which is directly accessible to the c memory or it is just a result of the compiler? No, it is impossible. It is all compiler-generated instructions. And, it is
