1. There are two different modes for using this application: A. In MIDI Mode, user can enter the standard MIDI data and the program will generate the sound of the corresponding note or instrument. B. In Re-tune Mode, user can enter a re-tune pitch to the default one. The audio generator will then generate a corresponding sound. Both these modes are independent of each other. 2. Enter the name of the song in a song text file. The program will then generate the audio file of the song and store it as an MP3 file. 3. There are five play modes for this application: A. Play Mode: it is equivalent to playing the song; B. Loop Mode: it is equivalent to auto-repeat; C. Play - Loop Mode: it is similar to Play Mode but does not loop once the song is finished playing. D. Simple Play Mode: it is equivalent to Play Mode but only plays the song once without looping. E. Single Play Mode: it is equivalent to Simple Play Mode but only plays the song once. 4. Once the program is started, the program will ask whether you want to load a song text file. If you want to load a song text file, select "Yes" to load the song file and press the "Load" button to load the song file and start generating the song. 5. There are two basic steps when you are using this application: A. First, you need to define the song and the instrument you want to play. You can add more instruments or choose the default instrument according to your personal needs. B. Next, you can play the song, and the instrument that you chose will start to play automatically. 6. When the play completes, you can choose the play mode you want to use to play the song. This mode, however, does not affect the auto-repeat function; for this function, you have to repeat the song manually when you want. What's New In?

- Programmable Audio Generator is a handy application designed to help you create audio files by entering a series of tones. It can be used for creating tones for testing equipment.
- The tones are defined as a text file that will be processed by the program in order to generate the audio file.
- The tones are easily accessible, just double click a sound file and it will be played instantly.
- Programmable Audio Generator allows you to generate a tone for each sound file in your text file and this allows for adding a delay between each tone.
- Add a pitch to any tone created. You can also add the volume for each tone.
- You can also create loops from your text file and it will play until it reaches the end of the loop.
- Programmable Audio Generator allows you to set the Start and Stop time of the loop.
- You can even get a completely unique beep tone for each sound file in your text file, so you can beep for any sound file.
- A File Info window opens so you can view information about any file that you are currently working with.
- You can also save a list of your tones for future use.
- In case of any issue with your text file, a mistake in your text file or even a sound file, you are able to undo any of your changes.
- You can add a project in order to have your application recheck your saved tones.
- You can also select the noise setting for each tone.
- The application will not open until you are ready and create one or more tones.
