I killed the first creep, and as I was looking at the body I saw I had 2 bar.I couldn't tell the number of health on the body, and I couldn't see any of the sprites, so I'm still wondering if it's true, or just some glitch. On his attack animation of the Gorog (if I recall correctly) he would keep his sword in the same position on his back, but would move it around behind him in a circular motion to attack, making the blade visible, but the spinning of the sword behind his back was too fast to make out, so he wasn't actually hitting anything. I can't imagine that this wouldn't happen a lot, but I really was wondering if anyone else had seen it. I've been having some problems with the online portion of this game. When I first joined a match, I was paired with a pair of bots. I didn't notice this initially because one of the bots would attack every other couple seconds. Once my health was below 50%, I would spawn as a clone. I did not leave this mode until I was healed up to more than 40% health. I'm now going into a match with the same bots for the second time. I spawn as a clone, and the match instantly ends because one of bff6bb2d33
