A: From the 'Printers and Faxes' Control Panel, right click on the device(s) (or printers) you wish to install to and click the 'Get Drivers' option. This will show the recommended driver based on what you have installed on your computer. For your specific case, you want to install a generic printer (text only) instead of printer scanner.

Jacob B. Shaw
Jacob B. Shaw (1784–1829) was an American lawyer, legislator, and judge. He served as a circuit judge for Wisconsin Territory from 1818 to 1829. Shaw was active in business and politics. Biography

Early life Shaw was born in the Province of Massachusetts Bay in 1784, the son of Dr. John Shaw. He graduated from Bowdoin College in 1802. He received his master's degree from Yale in 1805 and his L.L.D. in 1809. Career Shaw went to New Haven to study law. After graduating from Yale, he went to St. Louis, where he clerked. He practiced law there until 1814, when he moved to Milwaukee. He was admitted to the bar in April, 1817. He set up a law practice in Milwaukee and served as coroner for Milwaukee County. He was active in politics, running as a Democrat for clerk of the district court of the United States District Court for the District of Wisconsin. In 1818, Shaw was elected a circuit judge of the newly created Wisconsin Territory. He was confirmed by the United States Senate on March 5, 1818, but it was not until October of that year that the territory assumed statehood as Wisconsin Territory, and the first term of the territory's new constitution was for only one year. By this time, Congress had changed the status of the district court, taking jurisdiction from the territorial government. It was replaced by a circuit court with the United States Supreme Court as an intermediate court, and Shaw became a judge. He was chosen by President Monroe as United States district attorney of the district, and served in that capacity until 1829, also serving as acting territorial governor in 1820. Death and legacy Shaw died suddenly on March 22, 1829, in Milwaukee. He was buried in the Central Burying Ground. His son, Jacob B. Shaw, Jr., was elected to the Wisconsin Territorial Legislature in 1836. References External links
