I am using the following code to execute my application. var context = DeploymentManager.GetExtensionContext(ApplicationCode.Mailmerge); if (context!= null) { if (context.CommandResult == null) { return; } if (context.CommandResult.Contains("outlook")) { // execute outlook } } The problem is the variable context is null and the application never executes. How can I make this work? I have registered my Extention but I did not set my application to this status. I tried to set the status to the application and it never sets. A: I would recommend using the Windows Service Manager to run your web service as a windows service instead of running it through the web (outside of the firewall). This should reduce the chance of having to deal with permissions. The food space is heating up in Surrey. c6a93da74d
