EhLib 9.1 Build 9.1.028

In order to use the new release, you will need to either unpack the above or download and unzip the EhLib zip file. Rather than having a separate installer, I also included the setup and unpacker in one package. EhLib 1.12.0 has some security fixes in the encryption library. A Ransomware focused attack has been added to protect the embedded database from attacks. However this has only just been added, and to date it has not been necessary. There is also a VCL update to fix a bug that can cause some.VCL units not being created. There has been some changes in the way that the database is embedded. If you have previously configured the EhLib.INI as a config file, please ensure that the new version of this has been downloaded and added. Added a new compatible database driver to EhLib that supports serial port as well as interleaved access. This is available from the NUS database search service (http://search.nus.edu.sg/search.php?type=ecol&genus=all &cevent=8&patentnum=no&idx=1&q=&dbid=&resultbox=1&quick=1&searchkey=&query cat=search&submit=search&act=content_search&keyword="previously searched"&word="previously searched"> .
