facebook is the worlds largest social network and most people use it to connect with friends and family. but, facebook is not the only social network you can use. you can use other social networks as well. such as youtube, twitter, instagram, and many more. when you think about using a social network, you may think about facebook. but, there are many other social networks out there for you to use. most of us have been using the facebook mobile app for a while now. but there are times when we all get ourselves into a situation where we want to check up on our status updates, photos and even our friends. facebook is so against read receipts, in fact, that its own developers admit that they can have an impact on the user experience. a recent engineering note explains why facebook takes such a dim view of the feature and how it actually doesnt impact facebook as much as users would believe. whatsapp : the facebook-owned messaging service hasnt changed its stance on read receipts. it still states, read receipts are only for a subset of users. the feature can be disabled from the app settings, but not uninstalled. as a result, whatsapp users have turned to third-party apps to block facebooks read receipts, including the one that whatsapp itself uses. instagram : the facebook-owned photography and video app continues to allow users to block read receipts through its settings. instagram only recently introduced read receipts to its android users, but did not clarify if the feature would be available to iphone users as well. 5ec8ef588b
