As the 11th most informative blog on the planet, I have a seared memory of throwing my Time 2006 Man of the Year Award over the railing at Time Warner Center. Justice. Only Justice Shall Thou Pursue Thursday, December 24, 2010 One more look at the Death and Taxes Landscape A quick look at last week's cable news shows shows that the election hasn't brought much change to the bad news that showbiz just can't win it. On ABC, Domenick Nati praised and then mocked Frontline's "The Buying Of The President" as the two sides continue to battle it out over Citizens United in front of the Supreme Court. Perhaps the most surprising moment on the front lines was Ben Smith's on-air apology for the network that hosts his weekly "Up Front" segment. "It's just been a very contentious few days, and I'm not going to apologize for a network I'm on, and I'm not going to apologize for the work we do. I am just going to apologize for having a hard time expressing myself on the air tonight. I wish I had a better way to handle this."
